WHY AMERICA MATTERS

With the ascendency of Asian economics like China and India, there is concern that the United States would continue to remain a viable global economic and political super power. In this presentation, Dr. Padmanabhan will make the case for why America matters today, and will continue to remain globally strong in the future.

DR. PRASAD PADMANABHAN, PH.D.
Professor of Finance, St. Mary’s University
Prasad Padmanabhan, Ph.D., joined St. Mary's Bill Greehey School of Business in 2002. He holds the Myra Stafford Pryor Chair of Free Enterprise and is a Sam Walton Fellow.
He received his Ph.D. and NBA from McGill University and earned a B. Tech., Indian Institute of Technology. A prolific researcher, he has published over 25 articles in several prominent professional and academic journals.
Dr. Padmanabhan teaches international finance, investments, corporate finance, financial management and international business and serves as the faculty advisor to the St. Mary's University chapter of the global student organization, ENACTUS.

St. Mary's University, founded in 1852 by Marianist brothers and priests, is the first institution of higher learning in San Antonio and the oldest Catholic university in Texas and the Southwest. Personal attention and powerful academic programs have made St. Mary's, located on 135 acres northwest of downtown San Antonio, a nationally recognized liberal arts institution. With a diverse student population of nearly 4,000 of all faiths and backgrounds, St. Mary’s is home to five schools: Humanities and Social Sciences, Bill Greehey School of Business, Science, Engineering and Technology, Graduate, and Law.
In 1923, the business school began offering courses in accounting and economics. From a college with its first graduation class of two, it has grown to a business school that has more than 5,700 B.B.A. graduates and 1,100 M.B.A. graduates. The School now offers nine undergraduate majors, a master's of accounting degree, the M.B.A. degree, and the joint M.B.A./J.D. and M.A.C.C./J.D. degrees. In 2005, alumnus and Valero Energy Corporation Chairman of the Board Bill Greehey (B.B.A. ’60) made a personal gift of $25 million to St. Mary's University to endow the business school, establishing the Bill Greehey School of Business. Company